Dear Gene:

In your recent letter you asked about Jacob Arndt. The enclosed FGR shows most of the information I have concerning him and his family. As you will see it has come from a variety of sources/people.

Some of it, including the picture you are interested in, came from Monroe Oyler who lives at 315 Cambridge Dr, Decatur, IL 62526-1720 (Tel.217-887-6857). My picture was made from a copy in Monroe's book of family records. I think the enclosed copy is about as good a reproduction you are going to be able to get.

Monroe has done a tremendous amount of work on his ancestry. He and a cousin Earl Oyler, who also lives in Decatur, took an extended trip some years ago and Monroe documented a great deal about the family as well as other Oyler's with whom he has been in contact. I have known him for a number of years and have visited him on three occasions. He lent me most of his records a year ago and I have incorporated most of his information into my files. He is your 4th cousin once removed.

Another Member of your family line who has also provided me with much data is Tobe O'Neal who lives in Stilwell, OK. Additionally Len Arenson of Kansas City has also sent me much information. The list of contributors goes on and on. You can also add one Gene Skinner to the list.

The source of much of the earliest data in my files is not documented very well. At least the documentation I do have does not show up in my computer reports. If you would like more data give me as many specifics as you can as to what interests you and I'll try to dig up the original data and make copies for you.

I hope this is of help. Many thanks for your family information.

Headline: Jury acquits man in informant death
Publication Date: May 19, 1993
Source: The Harrisburg Patriot
Page: B2
Subjects: COURT
Region: Pennsylvania
Obituary: GETTYSBURG A Carlisle man accused of helping his brother kill a drug informant was acquitted yesterday of first- and third-degree murder charges.
But Lehigh County jurors did convict Willie L. Tyler, 41, of the 100 block of Lincoln Street, of one count of conspiracy to intimidate a witness. Tyler wept openly after the jurors rendered their verdict, a reaction his attorney, Ralph D. Oyler of Gettysburg, described as "tears of relief."
The charges against Tyler stemmed from the April 21, 1992, shooting death of Doreen "Dee" Proctor, a Carlisle police informant.
Proctor's body was discovered in rural Adams County about 6:30 a.m. that day, just hours before she was scheduled to testify against Willie's brother, David, in a Cumberland County cocaine delivery case.
Prosecutors built their case against Willie Tyler on witness testimony that placed him with other alleged co-conspirators in Proctor's death, plus Tyler's statement to police that he drove David Tyler to the shooting scene.
Willie Tyler also told police that he thought his brother intended only to scare Proctor to prevent her from testifying. He disavowed any advance knowledge of the murder.
Oyler said he was pleased with yesterday's verdict, coming on the second day of deliberations. He said he would file motions today seeking bail for his client, who has been held without bail on the murder charges since his arrest last July.
The conspiracy charge carries a sentence of up to 3 1/2 to 7 years in prison.
For Adams County District Attorney Roy A. Keefer, the mixed verdict closes the prosecution of six people charged with Proctor's death.

Headline: 2 swap charges of strong-arming in cabby's death
Publication Date: February 10, 1993
Source: The Harrisburg Patriot
Page: B2
Subjects: COURT
Region: Pennsylvania
Obituary: Gary Noon, 21, a mildly retarded fast-food cook, who testified for the prosecution yesterday in Dauphin County Court, said he was merely in the wrong place at the wrong time.
He accused Randy Bazemore, 24, who is being tried for murder, of strong-arming Samuel M. "Mac" Davis as they accelerated down South 16th Street and crashed into the concrete bridge pillar.
"Randy grabbed him by the neck and said, `I got a gun,' " Noon said. "I told the man to slow down and that's when things started really getting nasty and I didn't like it one bit."
Noon expressed remorse about Davis' death, saying, "It should have been me instead of him, because he had a kid, he had family."
Yet, he became agitated under cross-examination by Assistant Public Defender Bryan S. Walk, and began using obscenities, even when referring to the victim.
Noon, a ninth-grade dropout who has an IQ of 59 and is considered educable mentally retarded, later apologized for the outburst.

61

In return for his cooperation, Chief Deputy District Attorney Edward M. Marsico has agreed to seek a conviction for a lesser degree of homicide than second-degree murder, which carries a mandatory term of life in prison.
Noon's story didn't fit all the known facts about the case, including the fact that the pair called the Yellow Cab Co. twice before the May 3 slaying, asking specifically for Davis.
Marsico claims the inconsistencies are due to Noon's mental deficiencies, but Bazemore, who took the stand yesterday afternoon, said Noon had called for the taxi.
And he said it was Noon who unexpectedly signaled him and grabbed Davis around the neck shortly after they got into the cab.
Bazemore is on parole for two 1986 robberies and is awaiting trial for two more, including one involving a cabdriver.
Since Bazemore took the stand, Marsico was able to tell the jury about the prior conviction, but has been barred by Judge Joseph H. Kleinfelter from mentioning the pending cases.
Bazemore is awaiting trial for an April 8 robbery during which he allegedly grabbed a cabby in a headlock, put a gun to his head and stole $15.
The other robbery occurred April 30 in a residence in the 1200 block of Oyler Road. Police say Bazemore struck a woman until she was unconscious and stole a videocassette recorder from her home.
Walk and Marsico are expected to make closing arguments to the jury this morning.

Subjects: CRIME
Region: Pennsylvania
Obituary: A Penbrook man who stopped at an all-night convenience store ended up being robbed of his car today after he agreed to help another man jump-start a car.
The 30-year-old victim told city police he had stopped at the A-Plus store at Cameron and Herr streets at midnight and was approached by a man who asked him to help start a car parked around the corner.

Police said the man got in the car with the victim, and together they drove around the corner. Police said the suspect then pulled a knife and demanded money.
The victim, police said, told his assailant he had no money but had some at his residence.
Police said the robber then assumed control of the car and drove to the 2500 block of Walnut Street in Penbrook where the victim bailed out of the car and hid behind bushes until his assailant drove away.
Patrol Officer Clark Godusky found the victim's car, a 1987 Dodge Aries station wagon, at 2:45 a.m. being driven by a 16-year-old youth on Oyler Road in Hall Manor.
Police said the youth was charged with receiving stolen property and possession of cocaine and was placed in Woodside Juvenile Detention Center to await action by Dauphin County juvenile authorities.

Subjects: CRIME
Region: Pennsylvania
Obituary: The stolen minivan had just been backed into a parking space when the driver and two passengers noticed the police cruiser.
City police officer Bruce Garman said he thought the minivan he saw in the 1200 block of Oyler Road around 11:30 a.m. yesterday had been reported stolen, and when the 16-year-old and two 14-year-olds began to run, the chase was on.
Two of the boys ran into a wooded area, where Garman was able to watch them moving about until other officers arrived and surrounded the youths, Garman said.
The third boy was arrested in the 1300 block of Sycamore Street.
The boys, all from the city, are charged with receiving stolen property and criminal conspiracy. One 14-year-old was released into the custody of his parents; the other two boys were sent to Woodside Juvenile Detention Center.
The minivan, a black 1994 Pontiac Trans Sport, was identified as one reported stolen from a Naudain Street man, Garman said.

Headline: Man convicted of insurance-fraud try
Publication Date: August 04, 1994
Source: The Harrisburg Patriot

Subjects:
Region: Pennsylvania
Obituary: A Dauphin County jury yesterday convicted a Steelton man of dumping his car in the Susquehanna River in an attempt to collect insurance proceeds.
The jury found Antonio McClenton guilty of attempted theft by deception, conspiracy to commit theft, and theft by deception for not paying for repair work on the vehicle.
According to Deputy District Attorney Richard E. Guida:
On April 1, 1993, McClenton brought his 1980 Ford Bronco to a garage for repair work. The next day he and his mother, Mary Glenn, 50, of Oyler Road, raised their insurance policy to include theft coverage.
In the next several days, the garage repaired the car and called McClenton to pick it up, but he didn't respond. Several weeks later the garage owners noticed the car was missing from their lot.
After McClenton reported the car missing, an acquaintance overheard him say that he "wouldn't be surprised if they found it in the river." On May 10, Harrisburg police recovered the vehicle from the river near the Dock Street Dam.
Deputy Public Defender Michael E. Duda did not present any testimony, but argued that there was not enough evidence to tie his client to the crime.
Guida said the conviction leaves McClenton facing a maximum of 7 years in prison.
He said conspiracy charges against Glenn, who held the policy covering the car, are pending.

Dear Beth:

Late yesterday and last evening I got through all the information you recently sent me. Again thank you for filling me in on all your line.... up and down.

You ask who the Lucy is whose tombstone you found at the Flora cemetery. She is your 2nd cousin 3 times removed.

I think it was 1992 when my wife and I were making one of our more or less regular annuals trips back to Ontario we stop in Flora for several hours and visited with a considerable number of Oyler's. (Glen) Atlee Oyler took us to several cemeteries probably including the one where you took the pictures. He is your 3rd cousin twice removed. You are my 5th cousin 3 times removed. Atlee is my 5th cousin once removed.

I have enclosed a Descendancy listing showing all of Daniel Oyler's (9133) descendants. It doesn't show our relationship but does show Lucy's relationship to you. See page 13.

Now a question for you. One of your pictures is on a tombstone of "Frances" daughter of C.L. & M.E with a single date of Nov. 18, 1939. I have enclosed an FGR for C Lester % M. Ellen Oyler. It doesn't show a Frances, but otherwise would appear it might be the family in question. However I can't place them in any Flora family. Both children shown on the FGR seem to have died relatively young.... but in PA. This "family" doesn't fit into any other family group as of now. Can you shed any light on them? Could this be a daughter of Maudie (42175) and Charles (9783)?

If you have made no changes in your records concerning the following I think you will find you have a problem in your files. The Descendancy listing you enclosed in your last letter shows Max Carter Boone (44827) to be a son of Bartley (44813) & June (Guyton) Boone (44824) whereas I believe he is in fact a son of William Bartley (43971) & Agnes (Carter) Boone (44812).

I have also enclosed a listing of all people in my files who show Flora as a place of residence. This is no to say however there shouldn't be many others. The listing does show my "Key" and if you can follow the key you can tell relationships.

Enjoy.... and again thank you.

Sincerely,

Beth Anderson
